A Regency gold long chain,

A Regency gold long chain,

shortened to a necklace, bracelet and section of spare links, with hollow pierced rectangular links joined by sections of textured belcher links with a honeycomb pattern. The bracelet with a hand clasp with a cabochon turquoise rub set to ring to the forefinger, and a floral cuff rub set with a mixed cut ruby. Tested as approximately 15ct gold. Necklace 860mm long, bracelet 205mm long, spare links 155mm long, 54.39g total (3)

Condition Report

Minor surface marks/scratches/tarnish in places.
One belcher link to the necklace very bent/out of shape.
Some other belcher links slightly out of shape.
One belcher link to bracelet and one to necklace with solder bleed. Probably where the long chain was shortened to a bracelet and necklace.
One belcher link to one of the rectangular links in the necklace has only one point of contact/solder with the rectangular link rather than two. There is an area of solder visible to this link, where previously it would have been soldered to the rectangular link.
One end belcher link to the section of spare links is open.
Appearance in natural light - gold
There are no rough areas but the way the necklace is joined currently - it does not flow well and tends to kink. If it is to be restored to the its original form this could be corrected.
